More About the Unemployment Tax

Texas Gets a Cut Jan. 1 — Arkansas Doesn't

My old friend Eli Collins, director of the State Division of Unemployment Compensation, and I have been holding a debate in this column as to when the State of Arkansas will start the merit-rating system which other states, notably Texas, will put into effect the first of January. Mr. Collins has written another letter, but, since I put his letter first and my rejoinder second, in our earlier debate, I am writing my comment first and putting his letter second, today.

He made the statement with a laugh in a talk to a crowd outside Union Station upon arrival from Hyde Park. With 119,168 out of the country's 127,245 voters accounted for, the ballot totals stood:

Too, the training in handling emergencies; and the knowledge of crafts and nature will prove invaluable in later life. I heartily endorse the movement.

Long-Expected Drive Believed to Be Started

Greeks Still Hold Key Positions at Koritza, Italian Base

By the Associated Press
Italy's long-expected "big push" in the 11-day-old war with Greece was reported underway Thursday as the Italian high command said that Fascist divisions had advanced beyond the Kalamas river on the northwest battle-front.

Italian invaders had reached the river eight days ago in a thrust from Albania.

Dispatches from the northeast front said the siege of Koritza, key Italian supply base 10 miles inside Albania, where 30,000 Fascist troops have been reported "trapped," appeared to be reaching a critical phase.

Both sides were reported to be rushing reinforcements, with the Greeks still holding heights above the Albanian town of Bigliste, east of Koritza, despite strong Italian counter-attacks.

A decisive battle, it said, appeared imminent.

Greek and British warplanes bombed Koritza, while Italian planes smashed at the Greek town of Philorina with reported casualties ensuing.

Germans Advised to Leave BELGRADE — (P) — Truthworthy advice from Greece Thursday said that all Germans in Greece had been advised by the German diplomatic officials to leave the country at once.

This was interpreted in neutral diplomatic quarters as indicating that possibly Germany foresees no early fulfillment of an expressed hope for a quick settlement of the conflict.

announced by officials of the grocery firm. Policies of the firm with reference to this phase of national defense were outlined in a leaflet which is being distributed to all employees. Approximately 11,600 men, more than half the company's total employees, registered under provisions of the Selective Service act. In addition to paying life insurance premiums, the company promised all employees that they would retain their full credit toward vacations and that store and market managers would be permitted to count their year of military service in computing the five years of Kroger service as a managed required for a two-weeks' vacation.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

Barnum to Grant and Other Great Letters of the Ages

By their letters ye shall know them. Such might be said, at least, of nearly 150 of the world's great figures whose best correspondence, romantic and otherwise, has been assembled in an absorbing book, "A Treasury of the World's Great Letters" (Simon & Schuster; $3.75). Here are revealed, through their intimate letters, Alexander and Aaron Burr, Napoleon and Lincoln, Poe and Mark Twain, Shaw, Mann, the Brownings, merely to skim the dish. Excepted briefly is what P. T. Barnum wrote to Ulysses S. Grant when the ex-President went broke in 1884: "To General U. S. Grant, twice President of the United States, etc.: Honored Sir: The whole world admires and respects you. All are anxious that you should live happy and free from care. While they admire your manliness in declining the large sum recently tendered you by friends, they still desire to see you achieve financial independence in an honorable manner. Of the unique and valuable trophies with which you have been honored, we all have read, and all have a laudable desire to see these evidences of love and respect bestowed upon you by monarchs, princes and people throughout the globe. While you would confer a great and enduring favor on your fellow-men and women by permitting them to see these trophies, you could also remove existing embarrassments in a most satisfactory and honorable manner. I will give you one hundred thousand dollars cash, besides a proportion of the profits, if I may be permitted to exhibit these relics to a grateful and appreciative public, and I will give satisfactory bonds of half a million dollars for their safe-keeping and return. These precious trophies, of which all your friends are so proud, would be placed before the eyes of your millions of admirers in a manner and style at once pleasing to yourself and

Transit of Mercury Across Sun First for Americas Since 1924

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Pacific Director, American Meteor Society

A transit of the little planet Mercury across the face of the sun—a phenomenon so rare it occurs only 13 times a century—is scheduled for the afternoon of Nov. 11. This will be the first such event visible in the Americas since 1924, and the only one until 1953 to be seen by earth dwellers anywhere. Not before 1973 will so favorable a transit recur. Astronomers welcome transits as they give valuable help on the completely solved problem of Mercury's orbital motion. They also furnish information on the slight irregularities in the daily rotation of the earth, our standard timekeeper.

Mercury encircles the sun in 88 days on an orbit inside that of the earth's. This means that a few times each year this planet is almost between us and the sun. But because its orbit is inclined seven degrees to the plane of the earth's orbit, Mercury usually seems to pass a trifle above or below the sun. When on such occasions Mercury happens to be on that part of its path which crosses the plane of the earth's orbit, it is lined up directly between us and the sun, and appears to be on the solar surface.

Small telescopes—even strong binoculars—firmly mounted and properly equipped with sun shades or used as projectors will show Mercury as a small, very round dot on the solar face. Its apparent diameter will be about 1-200 that of the sun. Ordinary sun-spots of the same size will appear gray in contrast with the intense blackness of the unilluminated side of the planet.

The transit will begin at approximately 3:48 p. m. Eastern Standard time. Copt. J. F. Hellweg of the U. S. Naval Observatory at Washington, D. C., is anxious to obtain careful observations from all operators of small astronomical telescopes. A letter addressed to him will bring complete instructions.

satisfactory to the best elements of the entire community. I trust you will, in the honorable manner proposed, gratify the public and thus inculcate the lesson of honesty, perseverance and true patriotism so admirably illustrated in your career.

WE, THE WOMEN

Husband-Hunters Over 35 Must Realize They Are No Bargains In Marriage Mart

By RUTH MILLETT
In the marriage market a woman of 35 isn't looked on as the latest model. She can't hope for as good a deal as the girl of 25.

Now those are harsh, and brutal words. But they are the truth. And it is too bad that unmarried women won't admit their truth to themselves.

If a woman would admit them, she would not go on year after year halfway believing that some day she would find a man she thought good enough for her.

Let's take Sally Smith. She's thirty-five, almost thirty-six. A man he's with her—intelligence and social acceptability isn't going to be interested in Sally. He is going to fall for a girl not much more than twenty-five, if that old.

The younger girl is almost sure to be more attractive from a man's point of view.

But Sally won't look at the matter from a man's point of view. She looks at herself that she is really smarter looking than she was ten years ago and that she is far more intelligent. And by looking at a mirror in a rather dim light she can even convince herself that she does not look more than a year or two older than she did ten years ago. What with her more flattering hair-do, etc., etc.

What Sally must admit to herself—if she is ever to marry—is that a woman's value (in the eyes of marrying men) depreciates with the years. So Sally, in all likelihood, won't be able to get the man of her dreams—if she ever meets him. He'll take someone younger.

Facing Truth Clears the Way
What she could get probably, if she would take him, is a widower with a child or two; a man her own age who isn't quite as attractive as she knows she is; a man with less education and fewer social graces than she, who would value those qualities in a wife; or an old man to whom she would seem young.

The day she admits this truth Sally is on her way either to getting a husband at last or deciding that she would rather not marry under the circumstances. If the latter, she can concentrate on getting somewhere in her profession, and building the best life possible for herself, by herself.

'Inside' Pan Americanism

We of the United States usually think of Pan Americanism in terms of our relations with the remainder of the Americas. But there is more to it than that.

For instance, Argentina and Brazil have recently perfected some intimate and effective trade agreements; Argentina and Chile are discussing similar measures. President Vargas of Brazil is planning joint action by all countries affected to develop the Amazon basin. Mexico has had trade and cultural missions in many lands to the south. Cuba and Guatemala have made efforts to cultivate neighbors in the commercial and cultural fields. The River Plate economic conference at Montevideo in January is now an established institution.

This knitting-together of the American countries is certain to influence United States relations with them. In some cases bi-lateral agreements have been made which to some extent go against the Hull multi-lateral principle. In some cases it is possible that American markets in the south may be curtailed if those neighboring countries take to supplying one another.

Both these things might result. But offsetting them is an advantage. If these countries become less dependent on the United States in a trade way, they also become less dependent on Europe. Right now that might easily be more important than anything else.

Further, the more they can find ways to use up one another's surpluses, the less of a problem those surpluses are, which is good for all the Western Hemisphere.

In short, the United States stands

To gain from anything that helps to build sound governments and sound economies to the south, such as will be independent commercially as well as politically. We have faith that such countries and such peoples will develop purchasing power that will enlarge our market in the long run, even though greater independence cuts off the market for certain things from time to time.

We must look at it that way, because flabby, insecure governments and economies to the south present the worst possible danger of foreign penetration, either military or economic followed by political and military.

"Why?"

Buck nodded, thumbed his pipe; but he uttered no condemnation of Landis. He said simply, "That's tough, fellow."

"Maybe he was right," Bill said. "I guess I did want to show off your plays, Buck."

Buck Mentor smiled. "Keep punching, Bill. If things go as I've planned, you've got five years of football ahead."

"Here, take a look at this, fellow."

ON the table Bill saw a movie camera and projector. "Buck, for Pete's sake, where did you get that?"

Avoiding Bill's gaze, Buck said, "A friend of mine left it here."

"A present?" Bill gasped.

"Not exactly. You've heard me mention Jim Kirk?"

"The fellow you said could drive a hole in a concrete wall?"

"That's Jim. He was my sidekick in college. Recently he heard about my accident and looked me up. He's a district sales manager for the company that makes these outfits."

"I still don't get it, Buck."

The older man fumbled with his pipe. "These machines are designed especially for coaches. Jim thinks my football background would make me a good bet to sell them."

"Nothing doing," Bill said. "You're not going to do anything like that. You know darn well what the doctor told you about being quiet. I'll keep things going until we can afford the operation."

Buck gripped his son's arm. "Sorry, Bill, but I've made up my mind. I'm going to make a living for us. My legs can wait. Don't think it's going to be easy. We'll be separated, and that's tough to take."

"Wait," Bill pleaded. "Something will turn up here. I know it will." Bill's mind flashed to an auburn-haired girl. "I—I've got a plan. . ."

vaded Bull Dog territory at Saratoga, taking the first fight to the tune of 31 to 17, but dropping a close one in the second game to the Lady Bull Dogs, 27 and 25.

In the senior boy's tilt Forward Crit Caldwell, with 12 points, led in scoring honors, his brother, Calvin, guard and captain of the 1940-41 Tigers, was runner up with 11 counters of his team's total of 31 points. At the end of the first half the score was 12 all; but even Guard Purdue had been fouled out early in the second quarter, the Columbus Cats offense got under way early in the 3rd period. The game ended with the Bull Dogs without the services of three of their regulars due to excessive fouling and with the Columbus senior boys out in front 31 to 17.

In the second and last battle of the evening the Lady Tigers, who were trailing the Saratoga girls 18 to 10 at the end of the first half, fought and scratched their way up to within 2 points of the opposition, losing a thrilling game by a count of 27 to 25.

Hope to Play Prescott Here

Both Teams Will Be Trying for First Win

The hapless Hope Bobcats and the Prescott Curly Wolves will meet at Hammons stadium here Friday night in what is expected to be one of the best football games of the year. Both teams have lost every game this season.

If such a thing as hope could be given the Hope boys would perhaps hold a slight advantage by virtue of the fact that the Bobcats have played a tougher schedule. However, scores in games with opponents that both have played run about neck and neck.

The Bobcats are gaining much needed experience with every game and have showed much improvement the past three week-ends. In the Blytheville game Hope backs almost broke away for touchdowns several times but of course the utmost business just doesn't pay off. But it does show improvement.

Coaches Hammons and Brasher announced Wednesday that Jimmy Simms would be out with injuries for the rest of the season. Simms has seen action in only one game since Beebe here October 4.

A large crowd of Prescott fans are expected to follow the Curly Wolves to witness the game.

Yerger to Play Conway Here

Negro Teams to Clash on Armistice Day

The Yerger Tigers are working hard for the game with Conway here Monday November 11, Coach Rainey announced Thursday. The local negro team defeated Texarkana at Hammons Stadium 19-0 Friday night to remain leading contenders for the state championship.

In scrimmage this week the boys showed considerable improvement although several are still nursing injuries. However injuries are not expected to keep them out of the game Monday.

Democrats Gain in Lower House

But They Lose Four Seats in Senate Chamber

WASHINGTON —(P)—Late returns swelled the already safe majority of Democrats in the House Wednesday night, but Republicans made a net gain of four seats in the senate. With all but a few contests decided, control of both houses rested where it has been since 1930 in the house and since 1932 in the senate—with the Democrats.

Riding the tide of Roosevelt votes, the Democrats recaptured some of their 1938 house losses and had elected 264 members on the basis of incomplete returns—six more seats than they hold in the present congress and 46 more than a majority.

Although House Republicans still were six short of the 167 membership of the present congress, they had a chance to win in some of the five undecided districts. Three Progressives, an Independent Democrat and an American Labor member were insured of election.

The returns showed Democrats taking over 27 house seats formerly occupied by Republicans, while the Republicans captured 15 seats which had been held by Democrats, giving the Democrats a net gain of eight. A Progressive displaced a Republican in Wisconsin.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION IN HOPE SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1-A OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY, ARKANSAS

Notice is hereby given that the County Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas, has called a special election to be held in the Hope School District No. 1-A of Hempstead County, Arkansas, for the purpose of having the qualified electors of the said School District vote on the question of a six mills building fund tax, to be collected annually on the assessed valuation of the taxable property in the district, beginning with the taxes collected in 1941, to repay the principal and interest of a proposed refunding bond issue of $229,500 which will run for twenty-seven years and one month. The purpose of this refunding issue is to reduce the interest rate on the present outstanding bonds of the district and does not increase the district debt. The surplus in the building fund in any year, after making provision for six months' requirements on interest, must be used to buy bonds on tender or to call bonds in numerical order at par and secured interest on January 1 of each year.

Said election will be held in said District on the 30th day of November, 1940, between the hours of 2:00 p. m. and 6:30 p. m., and otherwise in the same manner as provided by law for holding special school elections, at the following polling places, to-wit:

of Democratic control had been conceded in advance, Republicans took over four seats formerly held by Democrats and picked up another when Hendrik Shipstead, a Farmer-Labor member, won re-election in Minnesota as a Republican. The Democrats reduced this gain when James M. Tammell Sr. defeated Senator John C. Townsend Jr., the Delaware incumbent.

FD's Margin Is Only 4 Million

Willkie Beats All Other GOPers, But He Loses

On the basis of incomplete returns President Roosevelt's popular vote margin of slightly more than 4,000,000 was the smallest since 1916 when Woodrow Wilson skimmed through with 591,388 over Charles Evans Hughes. But Mr. Roosevelt's top-heavy majority in the Electoral College stood at 468 to 52.

Wendell Willkie's popular vote appeared headed toward the largest ever given a Republican presidential candidate. It was well over 20,000,000, with many precincts to be heard from. Herbert Hoover polled 21,392,190 in 1928 the present Republican record. Mr. Roosevelt exceeded this 1928 and 1936 and in the current election.

The president's percentage of the popular vote this year was 54.5. His percentage was 62.2 in 1936; in 1932 it was 59.1. Hoover got 58.7 per cent of the Hoover-Smith vote in 1928; Coolidge 65 per cent of the Coolidge-Davis 1924 vote or 53.4 per cent of the combined total, counting third party votes for LaFollette; Harding got 47 per cent in 1920, and Wilson 51.6 per cent in 1916.

Women voted for the first time in the 1920 Harding-Cox campaign when 26,765,346 votes were cast as against 18,528,743 in the Wilson-Hughes contest in 1916.

Willkie Calls for U. S. Unity

Concedes Election to FD, Urging Aid to Britain

Willkie conceded President Roosevelt's re-election Wednesday, appealed for national unity and called ultimate adoption of his campaign principles "indispensable for the continuance of this free way of life."

The Republican candidate declaring he had no plans beyond a two or three weeks' vacation, said he ended his campaign as he had entered it "with no ill will or bitterness toward anyone."

Resting after six hours of sleep, Wil-kie started the day by drafting a congratulatory telegram to the president.

"In a radio talk, he thanked all who supported him.

"I know," he declared, "that they will continue as I shall to work for unity of our people, in the completion of our defense effort, in sending aid to Britain and in insistence upon removal of antagonisms in America—until to the end that the government of free men may continue and may spread again upon the earth."

Teachers Hit Textbook Pact

AEA Group Called Into Session in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK — Unless "some constituted authority" acts, the Arkansas Education Association should "bring suit to break contracts and reclaim funds which apparently have been unlawfully spent" in textbook deals, Supt. L. M. Goza of Arkadelphia schools, Textbook Committee chairman, told the A. E. A.'s Representative Council on Education at West Side Junior High School Wednesday night.

The council favored legislation creating an "entirely professional" Textbook Commission.

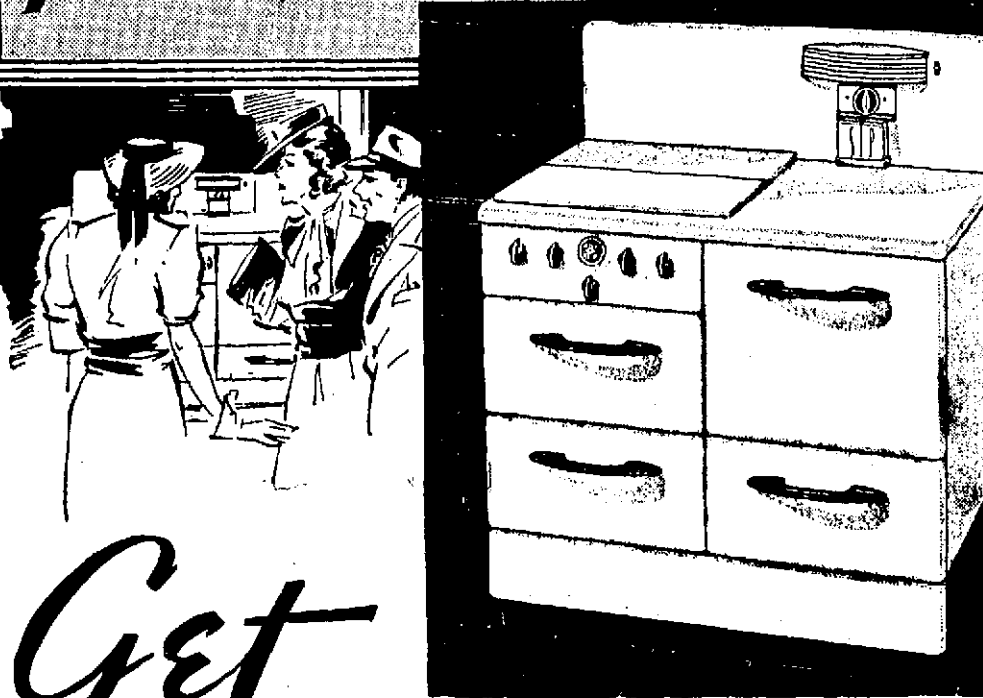

The council, accepting Legislative Committee report, favored the appointment of a state Board of Education having a member from each congressional district, serving staggered terms. No officeholder, candidate or state employee could be a member.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Hats now are being made commercially from a wool-like substance manufactured from the casein of milk.

The Red Cross reports a 65 per cent increase in students taking first aid courses in the past two years.
